

In the Claims:

1. (Amended) A structure for maintaining a certain clearance between an end portion of a lateral side of a lens of a headlamp and a front end of a fender, the structure comprising:
a bracket formed in such a manner that an upper plate having a guide hole and a lower plate having an engaging hole are integrally formed therein;
wherein the lower plate is closely contacted with a lower surface of a front side of the fender that is closely contacting with an upper surface of a rear end of a bumper cover, and the lower plate of the bracket; wherein the bumper cover and the fender are fixed together using bolts passing through the engaging hole of the lower plate; and a guide boss formed in a back surface of a rim of the ~~lamp housing~~ a lamp housing of the headlamp is inserted through the guide hole of the upper plate.
2. (Amended) A structure according to claim 1, wherein a dummy section formed in ~~an~~ the end portion of a the lateral side of the lens has a length of about 5mm including a thickness of the lens, and the length of a flange formed in a the front end of the fender of about 3.5mm.
3. (Amended) A structure according to claim 1, wherein said guide boss of the lamp housing is integrally formed in a back surface of ~~the~~ an insertion groove of the lamp housing into which an insertion end of the lens is inserted.